

Title: Removable Shelf with Dividers

Claim I

What I claim as my invention is plastic "Removable Shelf" with "Dividers," their purpose is to eliminate wasted space within two different types of "General Purpose Mailing Containers." One container has a build-in middle shelf, the other container does not.

Description: On the removable shelf, there are eleven 6" inche open slide-in slots along one side of the removable shelf. Dividers have two 12" inche open slots on one, one 12" inche open slot on the other. When two dividers are put together with the shelf, a stand is formed. The stand is now placed inside the shelfless container. The stand now forms the middle shelf. The container with the shelf, the stand is put on top and underneath the shelf.

When dividers are slid into open slots on the shelf they form individual compartments. Different types of mailing materials can now be placed inside.

Thank you
